

TESTIMONIAL ABOUT BUILDING ONLINE

June 2004

Superb! Alan's creative team made our major project of designing a brand new website both fun and rewarding. I would characterize the experience as well worthwhile and recommend any company with similar needs to definitely hire Building Online's services.

I had such a good experience working with Greg and Cindy that I was sad when we met our deadline and completed Stage 1 – revamping the website's look. The positive acclaims from professional peers in the industry supported the over 350% increase in hits and visits to www.parklandplastics.com. As the IT Manager, who is directly involved in national sales, the costs of Building Online's services have been substantially made up with business leads in vertical markets untapped by us before as well as international interests.

Thus, my requisition for more funding to engage in subsequent Stages for increased worldwide web exposure and overall online growth and development was approved.

I anxiously await restarting work on our company's website with Building Online to see what other creative tools Alan's team can develop to grow our exposure and, ultimately, sales.
